REDSKINS IN REVIEW

This year . . . 1966 . . . was a “year of review” for Redskins.

We were in the spotlight many times; at other times the review went on behind the scenes: 1966 is the year that representatives of the North Central Association undertook the every-seven-years’

inspection of our school. And after an exhaustive study, they found that the more than 2,300 students were receiving the highest quality instruction from a well-trained faculty of 133 in a fully-equipped and attractive physical plant.

Our city saw us “passing in review” too . . . in the Marching

Redskin Band, ROTC, vocal groups, teams, individual students giving service in hospitals and teen councils and churches . . .

This side of Manual we showed to the world.

Manual music groups entertain audiences all over the city. Here, the Manualaires, directed by Mr. Wendell Mertz, provide a program of Christmas carols for a dinner at the Indianapolis Press Club.

Friends in the Community See U

We volunteer time and effort on behalf of others. Candy-Striper Karen Kord is briefed at St. Francis Hospital.

Manual's ROTC was best in the city for the second straight year. Cadet Col. Karlis Steinmanis receives the plaque from Maj. Charles D. Bussey.

Throughout this year we put our "Southside school" out in front, both in sportsmanlike competition and in earnest cooperation with those around us. In quiet yet eloquent contradiction to critics who point to teenagers as indifferent and irresponsible, Manualites campaigned at Girls' and Boys' States, served on the Junior Heart Board, worked in Junior Achievement, and led youth groups. In the gym or on the field, Redskins gained respect from fans and opponents alike.

We hold jobs all over the community. Joan Sterret helps at Shelby Library.

Representing Manual on the Outside

Through cadet teaching we explore a career. Dennis Dodd and other senior Manualites assist classes at grade schools.

Competing on Channel 13's "Exercise in Knowledge" were Seniors Jim Koenig, Karlis Steinmanis, and Marchita Lemme, and Junior Bob Smithers.

Though we may be strangers to each other in the halls, we become friends at a Manual game. There's something special about going out to cheer the team that draws us all very close.

Our Familiar Manual World

The quiet dedication of a teacher like Miss Helen Reed often sparks a matching spirit of learning.

A leisurely walk across campus in good weather or a mad dash during a winter snow provides a welcome bit of exercise after an intense class session or test.

But there were other things about our school that the North Central Association couldn't so easily put on paper, nor the rest of the community see — namely that Redskin "spirit" which sent us cheering to the Sectional, which lit up the stage with sparkling shows, which spent itself in dedicated school service, and most important, sent us in pursuit of the full education of Mind, Hand, and Heart offered us here every day of the year.

Presents A Special 'Inside Story'

We "pledge allegiance" at an assembly as ROTC Color Guard Steve Shelton salutes.

While football fever mounted to a high pitch, we ate lunch in a cafeteria surrounded by a "Victory Train" that carried good-luck messages to our team.

Service and study go hand in hand as pupils, like Jacky Jung, serve as hall monitors.

Royalty Sandi, Bob Reign at Homecoming

King Manual XIII, Bob Percifield, and his Queen, Sandi Smith, reigned over the 13th annual Homecoming, which proved lucky for both the Redskin team and spectators October 1. A tense 26-25 victory over Shortridge and the sparkling halftime pageant made it another "night to remember" especially for returning Manual grads, who helped to make up the crowd of some 6,000 fans who jammed the grandstands.

Halftime ceremonies, highlighted by the crowning of the 1966 Homecoming royalty, began with another Redskin Marching Band spectacular, including the forming of the traditional block "M." The parade of convertibles brought candidates to the spotlighted 50-yard line where Principal Edgar Stahl announced the royal couple. Connie Goss, Joyce Johnson, Jan Garrity, Debbie Allanson, Richard Brown, Gibby Elrod, Marlowe Mullen, and John Stainbrook made up their court. "Girl of My Dreams," and "Queen of Manual High" filled the air as the Band, Glee Club, and Choir Director Wendell Mertz joined in a tribute to the 1966 Queen and her court.

Stepping out for the half-time ceremonies, the Marching Redskins get in formation, ready to perform for the crowd of Homecoming fans.

Debbie Barkhau and Bruce Arnold, '65 grad, purchase tickets to "Winter Wonderland" from Teresa Comer and Phyllis Christy.

Balloons, balloons were in store for "Winter Wonderland" as shown by Jan Nolting, Dennis Dodd, and Dave Stace.

We Flock to School Dances Year 'Round

On the Eve of Halloween, the Roines officially launched the social season for Manualites. Their annual "Romp" provided an informal evening of fun.

Underclass pictures went on sale at the "Pic Parade" sponsored by the Ivian. Senior candidates vied for King Ivan and Queen Anne.

Throughout basketball season Student Affairs Board sponsored five after-game dances.

"Harvest Holiday" was the theme of the Masoma Turn-about Dance in November. "Winter Wonderland," for which the Music Department created a Swedish Ski Lodge of the cafeteria, initiated the new year on a semi-formal note and good fun.

"Fantasy Under the Sea" was theme of the Junior Prom on April 30 at Butler University.

The "John Henry Hop" — for yearbook distribution — is the last informal dance of the year.

Manualites swing at a typical after game dance in the cafeteria.

'Turnabouts' Try Teaching Role for Day

American Education Week was a busy week around Manual. November 9 was Turnabout Day — a day during this week set aside each year for students to replace teachers. Each instructor has the opportunity to pick his own Turnabout, and a few teachers select a different student for each class period. During this day, the students "teach" classes and fill administrative positions.

Top seniors were picked for the principal administrative jobs. This enabled these students to get an inside look into how the school is run and the work that is involved. All persons participating in Turnabout Day were invited to a tea served by the Home Economics Department in their dining room.

"Invest in Learning" was the theme of American Education Week and, consequently, of Open House. Mr. Richard Blough, Manual's chairman, invited parents and patrons to visit the school to observe their "investments." Wednesday evening, the time of Open House, enabled parents to get acquainted with teachers, courses, aims of courses and what is expected of each pupil. All teachers were in their classrooms as hosts, and ROTC cadets were on duty throughout the grounds and buildings as guides.

Marchita Lemme, Vice-principal Noble H. Poole for a day, registers the newly planned Masoma Dance on the school calendar.

Larry Jenkins and his mother, Mrs. Violet Jenkins, visit with Miss Joanne Hines, Larry's English teacher, at Open House.

Mr. Roland Hawkins, Head of the Social Studies Department, discusses the lesson plan with Tom Weschsler, his Turnabout.

P-TA, Dads' Projects 'Fill Bill' for Extras

Parents and teachers of the P-TA and Dads Club combine fun and food for profit throughout the year, and Manual students reap the benefits. Using their time and efforts to help Manual with many projects not covered by official school funds, the two enthusiastic groups play an important role in Manual's life — from winter to summer vacation.

The Manual Dads Club is an indispensable part of the Redskin athletic program. Not only do the teams travel to meets on the trusty P-TA Dads Club bus, but they are feted each season with an Athletic Banquet. The schedule of fall and winter sports and basketball and football programs are made available to all Manualites "compliments of Manual Dads Club." The men ushered in the basketball season with their annual Dads Club Basketball Clinic, featuring the pre-season varsity scrimmage, with two officials invited to discuss new rules for the year.

The P-TA and school clubs join forces each year for the biggest of their projects — the annual Pow-Wow. April 29 saw the gym transformed into a combination carnival and circus, while hungry Redskins and their friends enjoyed the fare provided in the school cafeteria. The money earned through this and other projects is put to many uses, all for Manual's benefit. This year the library boasts a new blond spinet piano, a gift of the P-TA. Many students attend summer institutes on P-TA grants. President of the P-TA is Mrs. Bruce Richards, and Manual Dads Club president is Mr. Willis Overton.

No C-rations for this military! A juicy hamburger and a 7-Up from the P-TA stand appeal much more to Regina Cox.

Mr. Raymond Cain serves orangeade to Redskin fans at the Dads Club Fish Fry, which preceded the Manual-Howe game last fall.

Providing a lift for hungry Redskins, P-TA mothers Mrs. Wayne Shives, Mrs. John Stirling, and Mrs. Don Crafton man one of the three indispensable refreshment stands at Delavan Smith Field.

Jan Nolting and Jim Koenig Sing Leading Parts

Under the spell of Emile's love and the beauty of his hilltop, Little Rock bred Nellie begins to "wonder how it feels, living on a hillside, looking on an ocean. . ."

"I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair" Nellie tells the nurses, but nobody believes her—Emile de Becque most of all. A real shampoo on stage kept Jan and her backstage assistants hopping to dry her hair in time for the next scene.

A two-night run of Rogers and Hammerstein magic — that was the Music Department's production of "South Pacific." For those involved in the production, "South Pacific" was a way of life that began early in October and died down only with Christmas. Caught up in the exuberance of the music and drama, more than 200 Manualites worked to achieve the professional quality that sparkled on-stage November 19 and 20.

Seniors Jim Koenig and Jan Nolting played the lead roles of French Planter Emile de Becque and Army Nurse Nellie Forbush, two very different persons who suddenly find themselves in love on a South Pacific island during World War II. Supporting them were Sally Stephans as Liat, Linda Ellis as Bloody Mary, Dennis Dodd as Lieutenant Cable, Bob Robinson as Billis, Ron McBride as Captain Bracket, and Susie Robertson and Gary Shives as Emile's children.

Decked out in sailor suits, marine uniforms, native sarongs, and Seabee makeshift, the boys in the cast provided hearty and touching "humor in uniform" and the Army nurses — well, "there is nothing like a dame!" The stage crew designed ten sets for the show, and the pit orchestra played the entire score. From Jan's shampoo onstage to Bloody Mary's "Happy Talk," the show drew laughter and tears from cast and audience and was a smashing success.

In Music Department's Big Show, 'South Pacific'

Life gets pretty monotonous sometimes. Sailors, Seabees, Marines, and a native wait for Bloody Mary to liven things up.

"Never let her go. . . ." Emile and Nellie decide that their different backgrounds won't keep them from loving each other.

Rick Laue, Steve Eaton, Mike Crowder, Steve Land, Steve Price, Bob Yocum, Jerry Peters, and Ralph Williams raise the roof with the show-stopper "There Is Nothing Like a Dame."

Counselors Guide Us For Graduation 'Musts'

With Manual's student population increasing every year, counseling has become an important phase of the school's academic program, preventing a Manualite from becoming "just an IBM number." Seven full-time counselors work to give every student the direction that will help him be successful at Manual and then in a vocation or college career. Every freshman is assigned a semester-long Orientation class, and the particular counselor who teaches the class becomes his counselor for three years. Home Room teachers also play a part in the program, checking every semester with each student to verify his next semester's program. Counselors handle changes and special problems. Poor schoolwork, social and personal difficulties also concern the counselors.

Seniors "graduate" to Head Counselor Mr. Howard Thrall, who handles the myriad details of college entrance and keeps the class posted on vocational opportunities. Mr. J. Ray Johnson, Director of Placement, helps find part-time and summer jobs for all four classes, and assists many Manualites in obtaining full-time employment. Other counselors are Mr. Harold Bennett, Mr. Robert Doyal, Mr. Maurice Huckleberry, Mrs. Thelma Morgan, and Mr. Nathan Scheib.

Mr. Howard Thrall, senior counselor, looks over Ginger Davis' scholastic record for a scholarship recommendation. Below, Mr. Nathan Scheib confers with Rick Foster about college.

Mr. Robert Doyle consults eighth grade students at School 20 about programs for their freshman year at Manual. He traveled to all grade schools that feed into Manual to help future freshies prepare for high school.

We Look to Future on 'Opportunity Day'

Explaining equipment to Don Switzer and Steve Pieper is Miss Judy Williams from WFBM-TV, speaker on journalism.

Miss Martha Akers, Indiana University Medical Center, and Student Nurse Jan Shives, a '62 grad, confer with Patty Cox, who plans to enroll in I.U. Nursing School in the fall.

On Opportunity Day, March 9, Manualites attended their choice of sessions to hear speakers from different phases of business, industry, private professions, training programs, and colleges. By talking directly with qualified persons in these areas, Manualites gained insight and, in many cases, encouragement, in selecting their careers. Aside from regular sessions, two special sessions were presented. College-bound juniors learned about the requirements for college entrance and correct study habits. Seniors attended a session dealing with the problems of adjustment to college life.

Dr. I. Lynd Esch, President of Indiana Central College, spoke to the student body prior to Opportunity Day about the importance of giving serious thought to future career areas before they graduate.

Opportunity Day is varied enough, and there are enough selections, that in four years' time, a person has the chance to look into four different areas. This is one of the main purposes of the program, which has been in existence for quite a number of years.

Selected seniors hosted the guest speakers throughout the day, many times being matched with a guest who represented an area in which they were interested. All guests were invited for coffee in the library before the scheduled sessions, and many stayed for lunch in the cafeteria.

House of James students, Norval Bunch and Evelyn Ellman, put on a demonstration for an Opportunity Day Beauty Culture session for which Linda Bertram acted as student hostess.

Mr. Fred Bennett, coordinator of the Redskin Revue, discusses his production schedule and sets up rehearsal times with the Author-directors Sally Olds, Debby Barkhau, Don Goebel, Martha Taylor, Cara Clark, Marianne Hedges, Peggy Brown, and Pam Medcalf.

'Redskin Revue' Involves Several Hundred of Us

Redskin Revue fever struck Manual for the thirty-seventh time, as enthusiasm, hard work, tears, and laughter all went into the production of four student-written and directed acts, which were selected early in January and premiered March 25 and 26.

"Bugged" by Junior Pam Medcalf and Senior Peggy Brown, dealt with a timid ladybug's trouble in getting a date for the up-coming Ugly Bug Ball. Pirates, wooden shoes, and windmills all went into "Never Netherlands," a Peter Pan tale with a new twist, by Seniors Debbie Barkhau and Martha Taylor. This cast won the "Best Act" trophy.

"Bedrock Bedlam," a creation of Seniors Cara Clark and Sally Olds, was set in prehistoric times with the village of Bedrock suffering a "dinosaur scare." The cursed king of unhappy "Shamalot" and his victory over a problem witch resulted in making his kingdom happy "Laff-a-lot," the title of the act written by Sophomores Marianne Hedges and Goebel.

Seniors Jan Nolting and Dennis Dodd served as co-chairmen of the Revue, doubling as "MC's" for the performance. Their Redskin Revue committee also put more than four months of work on the show.

Indiana's Birthday Provides Contests, Fun

During 1966, Hoosiers celebrated the 150th birthday of the state of Indiana. Manual, being no exception, joined in wholeheartedly with a week of contests, guest speakers, and all around fun.

Members of the Citizen's League took charge of the Sesquicentennial activities aiming to include all school organizations in some aspect of the observance. The "Old Photo" contest, sponsored by the publications office, searched for the most interesting and appropriate old photo. Bill Dillon entered the winning picture. The library also conducted a contest in which old relics and antiques were displayed. Winner Fred Kidwell submitted an authentic 1812 tomahawk.

Art department members combined their talents to create a four section mural for the cafeteria. The drawings, which depicted Indiana's first territorial settlement to its most modern industrial centers, reminded pupils of our rich Hoosier heritage so often overlooked.

On the more formal side, an assembly program featured guest speaker Mr. Carl Zenor. Later Mr. Robert Montgomery spoke at an all school mixer at which time contest prizes were also awarded.

Jim Muffler and Martha Westerfield admire a small portion of a mural made by art students for the cafeteria.

Success is what happens when preparation meets opportunity . . .
in classroom and laboratory, Redskins prepare for a future demanding skill and knowledge. Social studies, the humanities, the sciences, the fine and practical arts—all help us increase our understanding of the world about us, and make us more fit to live in it as responsible, productive, and creative citizens. “The necessity of being ready increases—look to it!” advised Abraham Lincoln.

Academics in Review

Foreign Language Study

In Speech class, Volly Nelson develops her speaking ability by making a presentation speech to Rodney Clifford.

Mrs. Betty Baker, assistant librarian, explains research materials to an English 5g class about to start on a library paper.

Located in the library entrance, the card catalog is used by students to assist them in finding references.

The courses of the English and Language Departments offer Manualites an opportunity to acquire proficiency of expression in several languages. The main objectives of English courses are to develop an understanding of basic grammar, to build skills in creative writing, and to foster an appreciation for the great literary works of the world. Outside reading, oral talks, research papers, listening skills, study methods, and panel discussions broaden students' knowledge of the English language.

A new approach to teaching American Literature and U.S. History was initiated this year. The double-period class taught by Mr. Malcolm Stern combined one section of both English 5 and 6, and of U.S. History 1 and 2. The two courses were coordinated for more depth and understanding.

Roots, prefixes, and suffixes comprise the foundation for Etymology, which concentrates on the building of our English vocabulary through the study of Latin and Greek derivatives.

In the Speech class, another elective of the English Department, students are given instruction in the art of public speaking.

French, Spanish, and Latin students not only study grammar to read, speak, and write well, but also learn about the customs and history of the countries that speak their foreign language. Practice in pronunciation is aided greatly by the facilities of the language laboratory. Each booth is equipped with a tape recorder and earphones.

Supplements Our All-Important English

Sharon Dain cuts the Yule Log as Cindy Morgan, Sandy Dunn, and Karlis Steinmanis eye the delectable "goody." This "log" was made by Nancy Kidd for her Advanced French Class from an old French recipe.

Jim Hammond breaks the Spanish pinata as Donna Neal, Bob Sterrett, Leslie Ott, and Linda Beckman wait for the candies to fall. Thus the Spanish classes celebrated Christmas.

Preparing to spin a record for Advanced Latin are Mr. Albert Steiner and Janice Bramlett. David Stace, Jeanine Kent, and Gary Keene look on with anticipation.

Space Age Challenges Mathematics Students,

At the blackboard, Sally Sublett, Algebra I student, finds the value of "X" in one of her homework problems.

In his informal Advanced Math class of five members, Mr. Ben Parke teaches the fundamentals of calculus.

The Math and Science Departments gave Manualites an opportunity to develop an awareness to the world around them. Beginning algebra students studied the basic theories of proof, factoring, linear equations, and square roots. Three-dimensional models of pyramids, cones, cylinders, and spheres added a bit of visual realism to the solid geometry course. The five seniors who met with Mr. Ben Parke for the advanced math class continued their studies with calculus and analytic geometry.

With scalpels, scissors, and tweezers in hand, the young biologists withstood the odor of formaldehyde to dissect preserved specimens. The odors of sulfur, peppermint, or banana oil floating from the chemistry labs were not uncommon. Learning to use flasks, beakers, rubber hoses, and bunsen burners, the aproned chemists mixed elements and compounds while conducting experiments dealing with the composition of matter and the nature of chemical change. The physics class emphasized the mathematical interpretation of measurements of such things as energy, sound, the laws of motion, and the wave theory. Those students taking the relatively new Earth Science course studied the earth from a different standpoint—one of exploration.

Potential Scientists

Showing Walter Trammell the metacarpals of the skeleton is Miss Ethel Brown, a student teacher from Indiana State.

Sue Roberts sprays plants in the greenhouse that was modernized by heating, ventilating, and watering improvements.

Social Studies Focus on the 'Why's' of History

Senator Birch Bayh talks with Booster reporters Linda Ellis and Bob Smithers after his speech to Social Studies classes.

A better understanding of ourselves and other people, a knowledge of the forces that influence relations between countries, and a sound background in democracy and our method of government are main objectives of Manual's Social Studies Department.

With a freshman course in World History or Citizenship, all Manualites study U.S. History, Economics, and Government. International Relations and Psychology are additional offerings for seniors.

During the year history classes heard Senator Birch Bayh speak on the role of young people in government; and Bill Donnella, Radio WIFE correspondent to Viet Nam, told of his observations there. Law Day, the Free World's answer to the Communist May Day, was observed with a special program with Mr. Gene Wilkins, attorney, as speaker.

The American Assembly, a forum-debate on the American Congress, attracted delegates from the department, as did Boys' and Girls' States last summer. Voicing their beliefs in democracy and the American way of life, several contestants from the various classes entered the Voice of Democracy, American Legion, and Sesquicentennial oratorical contests.

Focusing on our 150 years of "Hoosier Heritage," Social Studies pupils took special interest in the school-wide celebration of Indiana's 150th Birthday, and the review of Indiana History that it presented.

Judy Blonder and Brenda Porter share their findings about various ancient civilizations in a World History "buzz group."

Emotional problems of high school pupils interest psychology students. Senior Jessie Waynick leads the class discussion.

'Home Ec' Teaches Arts of Graceful Living

Posing as the patient, Kathy Westerfield waits while Paula Hieb and Sharon Dain practice changing a bed in Home Nursing.

Winter wardrobes grow as Kathy Rafferty and Sandra Pierpont work on Senior Clothing projects they have personally chosen.

The Home Economics Department offers courses in preparing students to become better homemakers. Foods I-IV help girls learn to prepare well-balanced meals for their families and to serve the school. These girls put their learning to good use by preparing and serving a luncheon when Principal Edgar Stahl hosts the high school principals and one for the Army officers who come for the federal inspection of the ROTC. They also sponsor a tea for the Turnabout Teachers during National Education Week. Salad and desert luncheons are special treats for these classes when they are studying preparation of these foods.

Through Boys' Foods I and II, the brawnier sex learns to associate the kitchen as a place to prepare meals as well as a place to eat.

Economy coupled with style is the goal for seamstresses enrolled in Clothing I-V and Senior Clothing. Here girls develop professional quality in applying the practical skills of garment-making and often embark on designing a project of their own.

To meet graduation requirements, all senior girls must take the American Red Cross course in Home Nursing. This valuable training includes instruction in nutrition, care for the sick in the home, first aid procedures, and infant and child care.

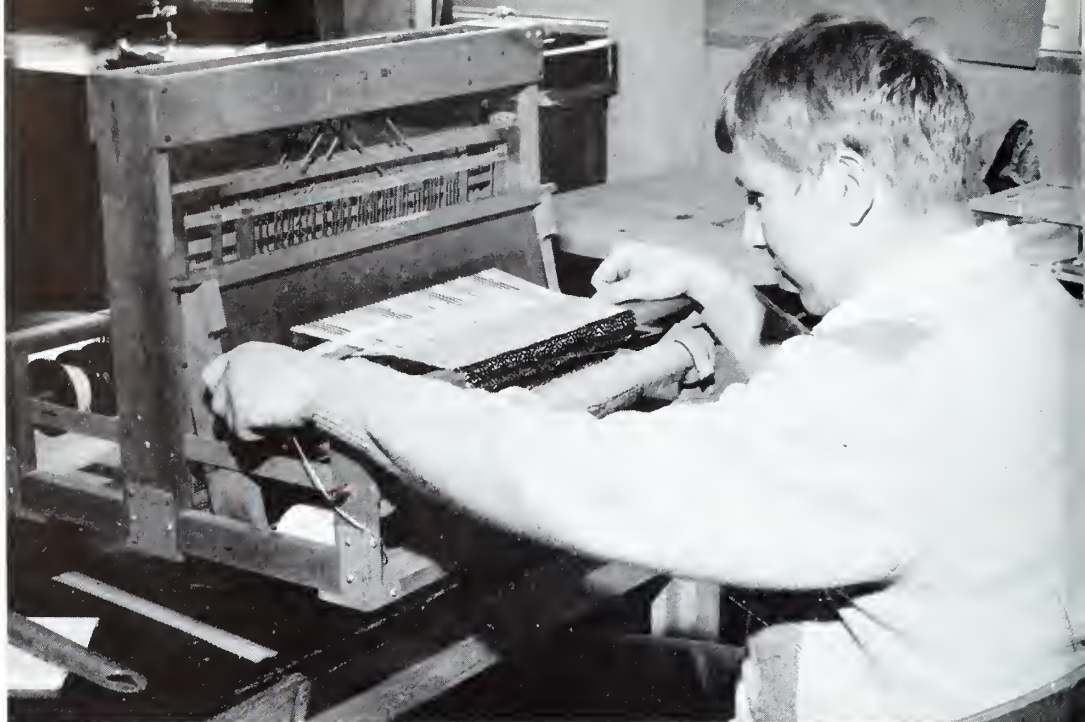

Other interesting and useful courses offered to complete a home economics major are Social Practice, Family Living, and Home Management.

Sukiyaki and other Oriental dishes, prepared under the direction of guest Miss Anna Lang, grace an Advanced Foods dinner.

Seated at a wooden loom, Mark Middleton demonstrates the weaving process, one of the skills taught in Craft Arts classes. By throwing the shuttle, the crosswise threads are carried between warp or lengthwise threads to make a hand-woven table runner or place mat.

Artists Develop Talents Using Varied Media

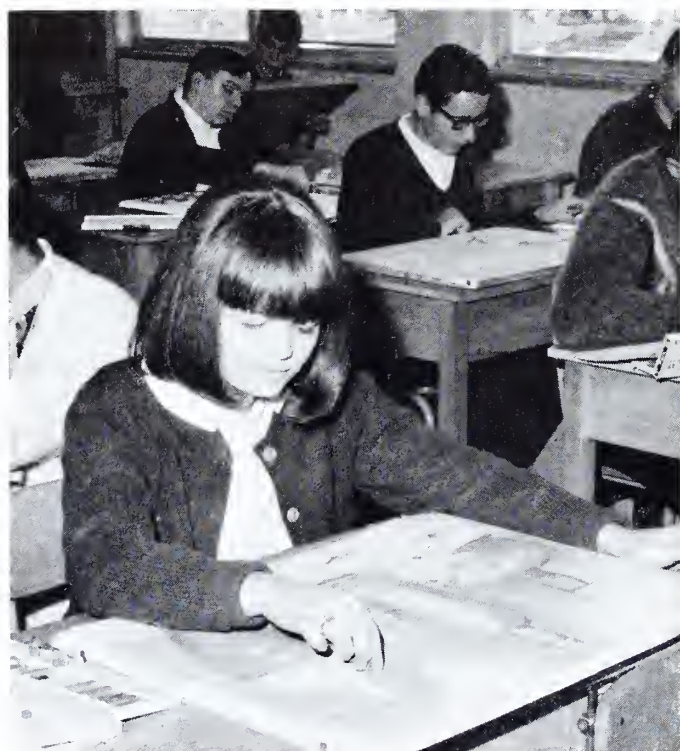

The courses of the Art Department offer a variety of ways for students to be creative. After two years of regular art classes, where the basic fundamentals of design are emphasized, advanced artists may take a special Art Production course. In the informal atmosphere of a commercial art studio, this select group turns out poster and program designs, the senior armbands and banner, stage decorations, and other school service projects.

The Craft Arts room was enlarged this year. The added space helped students to work more efficiently to produce fine examples of enameling, weaving, ceramics, stitchery, leather work, and mosaics.

Young jewelers filed and polished to make rings, necklaces, and other items of copper, aluminum, and silver. Some were set with semi-precious stones.

Shading with pastels, Darlene Fletcher gives her still life drawing a note of realism while working in her Art 3 class.

Mrs. Mildred Haskens, Craft Arts teacher, shows Jody Hafer how to assemble the clay parts of her wind chime.

Music Pupils Work for Performer Status

An appreciation of good music and the ability to play or sing with feeling and technical competence are two traits that students of Manual's Music Department develop in their studies.

Boys' and girls' chorus classes provide those who like to sing with a valuable background in basic harmony and rhythm. Vocalists graduate from chorus to the mixed Choir Prep class and are promoted from there to Girls' Glee Club or to the Concert Choir.

A-Orchestra and the Marching and Concert Bands claim the proficient freshmen who have played in grade school groups, and gain other players from the beginning string, percussion, and wind classes.

Both instrumentalists and vocalists may take music theory, the "mathematics of music," which includes not only harmony, composing, and arranging melodies, but times of listening to records with ears tuned for rhythms, chords, style, and musical expression.

The stereo record player, the tape-recording system, and the enlarged and remodeled music library are frequently used in many areas of the department. Evidence of the musicians' accomplishments is seen every year as soloists and ensembles return from music contests sporting First Division medals.

Beginners Nathaniel Styles, Jeannie Brooks, Dennis McClure, Steve Adams, Judy Bohall, and James Duncan "get the beat."

Jan Nolting checks count with Mr. Wendell Mertz in Theory Class as Linda Ellis, Gerald Beck, and Marilyn Bailey observe.

Conducting is more than meets the eye, Sandra Cherry discovers as she takes over one of the girls' chorus classes.

Dictaphones, the allies of businessmen in a hurry, give these would-be secretaries practice in taking shorthand dictation. Below, flying fingers tabulate columns of figures in a Machine Calculation class.

New Data Processing Widens Business Training

Maxine Napier concentrates on typing "Lesson 264" without error. Many boys also know the value of this useful course.

New to the Business Department this year was Introduction to Electronic Data Processing. This survey course explores the development of the data processing system involving programming techniques, punched cards, and computers. Study in this field can be continued with Key Punch, and Tab Equipment Operator courses offered at Tech High School.

Future stenographers or secretaries gain practical experience through Typing, Shorthand, and Filing. Taking dictations and transcribing are the essential skills taught in Shorthand. Both speed and accuracy are sought by those in Typing classes. Learning the correct forms for letters and other papers will be useful to future "gal Fridays."

Many Manualites take courses that build a foundation for an accounting or bookkeeping career. Operation of the comptometer to solve office problems involving discounts, payrolls, and inventories is the main objective of Machine Calculation. Bookkeeping students "play the role" for an imaginary business to master the methods of journalizing, posting, and making financial reports.

Additional courses which give students a broader knowledge of the business world are General Business, Business Arithmetic, Business Law, Economic Geography, Salesmanship, and Office Training.

Shop Classes 'Weld' Mind, Hands for Industry

Armed with the skills and background gained in Industrial Arts, many Manualites find jobs in industry upon graduation; others use this background as they go on to specialized study in engineering, architecture, and related fields.

Wood, Metal, Electric, and Machine Shops, all one-semester courses comprising General Shop, provide basic training in use of tools, methods of design and construction, and shop safety. In addition, they introduce the various industrial fields to students, providing a look at potential employment.

Auto Mechanics, Printing, and Architectural Drawing, all two-year courses, attract advanced students, and often produce graduates who are able to qualify for skilled jobs. Eight semesters of Mechanical Drawing prepare future draftsmen.

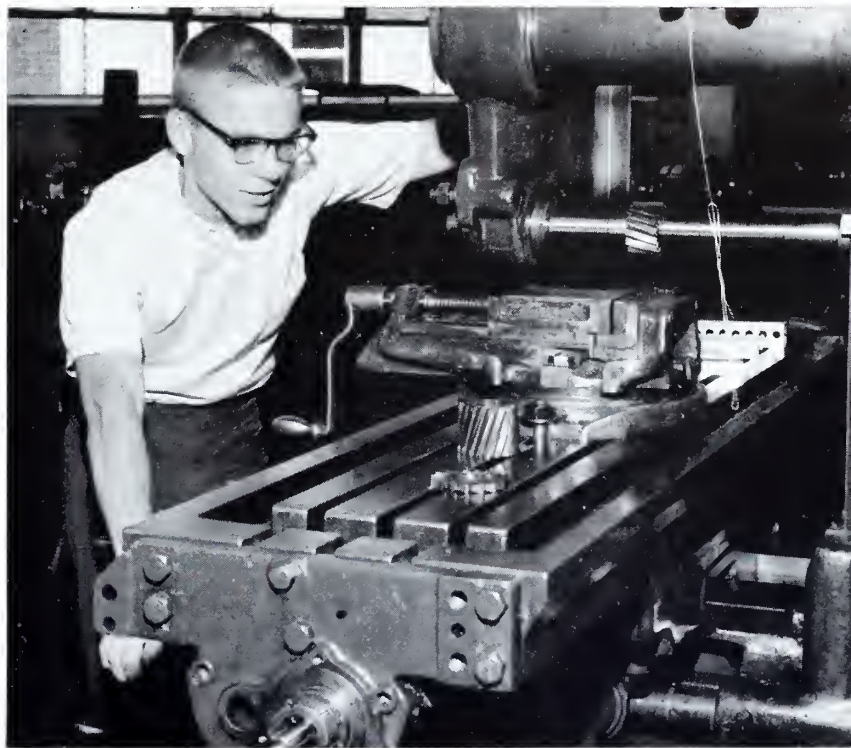

Introduction to Engineering, developed by teacher Mr. Robert Gallamore, and taught exclusively at Manual, gives upperclassmen with a background in mathematics and science, a look into the many fields of engineering. For those who have not had shop experience, it proves a valuable aid, as the facilities of the Department are open to the class. Included in the course are field trips, talks by guest instructors, and a technical research project.

Graphic Arts students have a variety of duplicating machines to practice on. Dave Coffman sets up a small hand press.

Auto Shop Instructor Victor McDowell gives Phil Stover a few pointers on how to adjust this standard transmission.

Skill and responsibility are required in using the large machines and tools in Metal Shop, Jim Eggert well knows.

'Best' Commanders Lead 'Best' ROTC

Chosen the most outstanding cadet in Indiana and Michigan, Cadet Colonel Karlis Steinmanis received the Legion of Merit Bronze Cross. Sgt. Jack Nunnery offers congratulations.

Manning the ropes around the Redskin basketball court are cadets Bill Atkins and Jim Vadis, who enjoy the last few minutes of the game before their halftime duties begin.

Leadership of Manual's ROTC Battalion, by both Commandant Sergeant Jack Nunnery and Cadet Colonel Karlis Steinmanis, proved outstanding during the year. Citations to individuals as well as unit awards designated the Corps of superior quality.

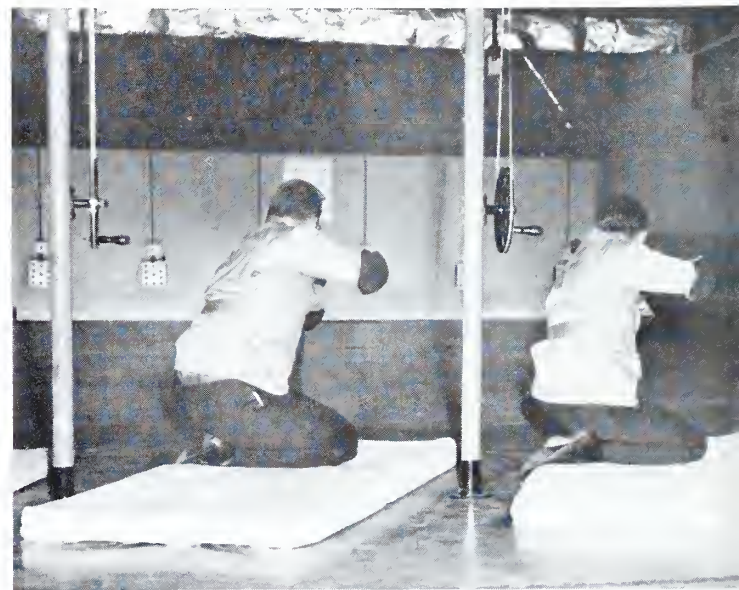

At 1965 Federal Inspection, Sergeant Nunnery received the Army Commendation Medal for "unselfish devotion to duty" and "ability to inspire cadets to excel in competitive and community sponsored events." Cadet Karlis ranked highest in comparison to other cadets throughout the Midwest and was honored with the Legion of Valor Bronze Cross for scholarship, leadership, and citizenship.

Cadets gain advancement by participating in the Drill Team, Rifle Team, and ROTC History Club. On the range, the team led in fall competition to top North Central High School in the final match which decided the Fall Tourney champion. First place trophy was added to others won by the Drill Team and by individuals in the Knock-Out Drill.

Cadets served "guard duty" often throughout the year as doorman for school functions and "floor protectors" at home basketball games. They extended Manual's greetings to visitors and guests in the true military fashion. Responsibilities of the Flag Corps included the presentation of the Colors at assemblies and the raising of the flag each school morning.

The annual spring Military Ball found formal attire the word of the day as cadets crowned their 1966 queen, Senior Ginger Davis.

On target in Manual's ROTC rifle range, Rifle Team members Johnnie Vibbert and Larry Gardner aim with the precision that gained their team the City Rifle Tourney.

'Fitness' Program Develops Drivers, Physique

Manualities become physically prepared and enjoy a break from scholastic studies in physical education classes. A year is required for all Manual students, and advanced courses are offered to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. This one-half credit subject involves skills such as tumbling, calisthenics, and group sports like volleyball, basketball, and soccer. For those who do not wish to compete on the varsity level, there is a wide intramural program for both boys and girls.

Redskins learn the rules of the road in Drivers Education classes and put these to use when they drive every third day in a dual-control car.

Taking a walk on their hands, two freshman gymnasts learn balance and develop agility. Through exercises like these, girls achieve the twin goals of physical fitness and poise.

A backward somersault on the "rings" proves no challenge to Ken Holsclaw, as Mr. Al Pike gives him some pointers on the subject. Manual's gyms are well-equipped with such apparatus.

We are interested in many things — modern languages, teaching, performing on stage, giving school service, science, nursing — and we find in co-curricular activities the chance to broaden our horizons and put our talents to work. Through participation in Manual's wide range of clubs, performing groups, teams, and special activities, we develop qualities of leadership, responsibility, and cooperation that will serve us well in the future.

Masoma, Roines Assist Redskins and Others

Fifty-two years of service to Manual is the common heritage of the school's two senior honoraries, Masoma and Roines. Although each club has annual duties and special projects, the countless "little things" done each year — promoting school spirit, helping freshmen and visitors, tutoring, taking the lead when things need to be done — make Masoma and Roines the respected groups that they are.

Twenty-five senior girls sported the gold Masoma pin this year. To raise money to clothe a needy child at Christmas, Masoma sponsored a semi-formal dance, "Harvest Holiday." As hostesses for the school, they served at receptions and banquets, and, with Roines, welcomed incoming freshmen. Another first for Masoma this year was the sponsoring of a Manual junior girl at Indiana Girls' State.

"Backward Seniors" may have been a popular nickname this year for Roines ("Senior" spelled backwards) Club, but the seventeen members, all outstanding in their class, put in a year's forward looking service to their school. In addition to keeping the outside bulletin board up-to-date, battling the Faculty at a benefit Roines Raiders Basketball Game, and sponsoring the "Roines Romp," the club added a scroll reading "Peace On Earth" to their huge Christmas wreath, and raised money to buy a Sentinel Dog for our troops in Viet Nam.

Student Affairs Board Solves Traffic Problems

No more will people be going “up the down staircase” — Manual’s Student Affairs Board solved that problem so well this year with a “traffic plan” that the system will become a permanent part of passing to classes, with students following the traffic signs painted permanently on the stairs.

SAB members, serving as a liason between students and administration, sponsored five after-game dances, emphasized Manual’s code of conduct with PA skits, bought a 50-star flag for the gym, and sent a representative to the Intra-City Student Council. The Student Assembly, the SAB’s link to each Home Room, furnished suggestions to the Board.

National Honor Society

Awards the Studious

The "gold torch and keystone," insignia of the National Honor Society, was awarded to fifteen juniors and twenty-three seniors at a formal induction ceremony May 1, bringing the total membership of Manual's chapter to fifty-two. Strictly an honorary, the ten-year-old chapter is composed of students who meet the nation-wide standards set up by the national organization, and are chosen by vote of the faculty, who fill out rating sheets.

The coveted membership helps to spur academic achievement, and also encourages the development of the qualities symbolized by the colors of the ribbons given to Honor Society pledges in an in-school ceremony: gold for scholarship, red for service, purple for leadership, and white for character. Parents of candidates, privately informed by telephone, were on hand to see their sons or daughters pledged. All other juniors and seniors of the school made up the rest of the audience that witnessed the traditional Manual "Ribbon Ceremony" April 16. Officers of the chapter are Ron McBride, president, Debbie Allanson, vice-president; Sandy Dunn, secretary; and Nancy Kidd, treasurer.

Surrounded by active members of the Honor Society, Principal Edgar Stahl opens the Ribbon Ceremony for new pledges.

Citizen's League Promotes Sesquicentennial

Returning members, as well as new recruits, met in October to organize this year's Manual's Citizen's League. The twenty-member club first journeyed to the Indiana Junior Historical Society's workshop at Spring Mill State Park. The weekend sessions outlined ways to build club membership and suggested worthwhile projects for the year's program planning.

Indiana's Sesquicentennial year provided unlimited opportunities for planning celebration activities. Old Photo and Antique contests inspired pupils to dig into attics. Art Department pupils contributed a series of murals picturing Indiana, past to present. The full week of observances in early March ended with an all school party in the library.

Martha Westerfield headed the group as president. Other officers serving were Dave Parkhurst, vice-president; Shirleen Harlow, secretary; and Marilyn Overton, treasurer. Judy Lewis was elected to the state-wide officers' committee.

Vice-president David Parkhurst and Lynne Lyons check a pioneer "long-barreled" pistol, part of the club's exhibits which were displayed in the show cases in the main entrance.

Studying the murals depicting Indiana history, made by Art Classes and displayed in the cafeteria are President Martha Westerfield and Jim Muffler who painted the top section.

Alan Jay drew the state map supporting the Indiana state flag and Jim Baxter did the lower mural strip which features the industrial phases of our Hoosier heritage.

Talented fingers and creative ideas make up the varied Craft Arts Club projects. Checking over designs for the mosaic being made for the main stairway are club members Bill Campbell, Wendy Foster, Danae Gordon, Rosalind Finley, Debbie Eberg, Bob Bauerle, Charles Collins, and Bob Gratz.

Craft Arts, Math Wizards Solve 'Figures'

Uses of the ancient Chinese abacus was this day's topic for discussion by the Manual Math Club. Sponsor Mr. Harold Baumer questions Marcia Sublett, Cathy Norman, and Rick Foster.

Designing a stained-glass mosaic for the main stairway was one of the Craft Arts Club's most ambitious projects this year. The window will be completed next year. The crafters, who work with ceramics, enameling, clay, and other media that appeal to their imaginations, designed jewelry for Christmas gifts and created stuffed animals, also for Christmas. Meeting every other Thursday in the Art Department, they planned and designed and used the workshops on alternate meeting dates. Mrs. Mildred Haskens, teacher of Craft Arts and a member of the Craftsmen's Guild, sponsors the club, whose officers were President Debbie Eberg, Vice-president Cathy Hafer, Secretary Peggy Collier, and Treasurer Charles Collins.

Analytically-minded "wizards" in math found plenty of "food for thought" at Math Club meetings. Now in its fourth year, the Math Club, which adds extra challenge to its members' regular math studies, boasts members who are outstanding in math and science, and many who plan to enter those fields. Mr. Harold Baumer, sponsors the group and directs their projects. One such experiment was studying the Chinese abacus and then developing abaci for other number systems. Math Club officers were President Rick Foster, Vice-president Cathy Norman, Secretary Marcia Sublett, and Treasurer Alvin Plahitko.

'F' Clubs Not Failures But Future Investments

Career-minded Manualites found an excellent opportunity to explore their vocational fields, and to gain some practical experience in those areas, in three nationally-affiliated clubs: Future Teachers, Business Leaders, and Printers of America.

Future Teachers met bi-monthly to investigate the teaching field through activities planned by Program Chairman Anne Ford. During National Education Week, members made nametags and served as ushers for Manual's open House. FTA encourages interest in Manual's Cadet Teaching program, and many members spend a period or two in this program.

Future Business Leaders just received their charter this year from the National Business Education Association, and were installed officially after Spring Vacation. In addition to investigating business careers, members help out in the Business Department; one project was arranging bulletin boards.

Field trips filled much of the Future Printers' program, as they visited ink and printing companies to see various processes and different types of jobs. With Mr. Marvin Thorpe's help, the club undertook several projects in Manual's print shop.

Future Teachers of America Club officers, Ginger Davis, Anne Ford, Martha Taylor, Judy Hardy, Marcia Sublett, and Suzanne Barnes, eye the many suggested educational opportunities.

The world of business awaits these FBLA members as Florence Crowdus, Cheryl Pryor, Jeannetta Freeman, Mr. Hubert Hughes sponsor, Debbie Werz, and Claudia Flahie look into jobs.

Future printer Dave Steele displays varied techniques to three other Future Printers of America Club members. Interested on-lookers are Mae Mink, Bill Campbell, and Bill Oden.

Touchdown! Drum Major David Ebbeler strikes up the band in an enthusiastic "Onward Manual" as the crowd explodes up in the stands, the band backs up cheering with "brass" and spirit.

Parades, Song Fests

The endless drilling of intricate routines despite heat, mud, and aching feet paid off when the Marching Redskins "went on review" before several thousand spectators at fall football games and spring parades — and when, following their annual "custom" they took top honors at the Indiana School Music Association Marching Contest for the thirteenth straight year. Pep Band, Dance Band, Solo Ensemble Contest, and a winter season in Concert Band kept the 90 musicians on the go between the two marching seasons. Senior Terry Lewis captained the Band, and Junior David Ebbeler completed his first year as Drum Major.

The Girls' Glee Club joined forces with the Concert band to present their annual winter concert March 2. In addition, the 64 girls took part in the annual Homecoming pageant, the Thanksgiving assembly, and participated in the All-City Girls Music Festival.

Glee-Ettes, 20 top vocalists from the group, went "on tour" all year, singing for dinners, special programs, and in the winter concert. Accompanists were Barbara Mascoe and Linda Dunn.

Sixty-four bandsmen from this group form the Marching Band, stepping out "eight by eight," a formation that lends itself to their intricate maneuvers.

Orchestra, Choir Combine Talents for Programs,

Serving her second year as Concert Meister and president, Marchita Lemme tunes up the orchestra for a daily rehearsal.

The "really big show" of the year, "South Pacific," launched this year's Music Department's activities. After the fall production, Manual's Orchestra and Concert Choir continued to entertain the school and community with a variety of programs.

Christmas music rang loud as the Orchestra presented concerts for the P-TA and pupils at School 34. Winter programs included a taping for WIBC and more visits to near by grade schools. The combined talents with the Choir for an annual spring concert. Ending the year's schedule, they made their last appearances at Honors Day and Senior Vespers.

Christmas provided excellent opportunities for Choir carolers in the downtown stores and for religious programs at neighboring churches. Throughout the winter, the 69 member choir presented concerts at grade schools and taped a "Young America Sings" program for WIBC. When the occasion called for a smaller group, 20 top voices formed the Manulalaires. Spring found the vocalists performing at Clowes Hall for the All-City Choir Concert and combining once again with the Orchestra for the May Music Festival and Vesper ceremonies.

Manual's Dramatists Create 'Off Broadway'

Self-expression, the thrill of an appreciative audience, and the skill and precision involved in the technical end of a production hold endless charms for amateur actors, writers, and directors. Under Mr. Fred Bennett's sponsorship, Mask & Wig Club and the National Thespian Society shared an evening of one-act plays, "The Lottery," "The Clod," and "The Ugly Duckling," with Thespians sharing directing duties with Mr. Bennett. In keeping with the Halloween spirit, Thespians produced "Grammercy Ghost," a three-act play that gave the troupe a chance to combine comedy with drama. Members took roles in the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, in "South Pacific," and Redskin Revue. A state-wide Thespian Day at Fairmount, Indiana, attracted delegates; and various Indianapolis dramatic productions were attended by troupe members. Officers are Bev Boyd, president; Jim Koenig, vice-president; Jan Nolting, secretary; Sally Stephans, treasurer.

More than 50 members of Mask & Wig spent an active year learning about theater, and, through various productions and projects, accumulating the hours that will qualify them for membership in National Thespians. Under President Joan Sterrett's leadership, weekly meetings featured practice in pantomime, gesture, makeup, and reading.

A Revolutionary War soldier ghost and his comrades-in-arms pose a problem for 20th-Century Nancy Willard, the only person who can see them, in the Thespian production of "Grammercy Ghost."

Other 'Hams' Operate WMHS, Back Stage

Outstanding scenery for every Manual production is the trademark of stage crew members like Dennis Ditchley and Susie Long.

Radio WMHS's professional studio provides technical and DJ experience for Don Darko, Steve Hartsock, and other "hams."

Stagecraft classes learn set building and design, lighting, stage management, and the skills that qualify them for places on Mr. Carl Wright's stage crew. Using the well-equipped Manual stage as their workshop, the "co-ed" classes acquire practical yet creative abilities.

Booster Wins Seventh 'Freedoms' Award

Earning its seventh award for outstanding contribution to the American way of life, the Manual Booster served both community and school. Editor Jim Koenig wrote the editorial which gained a Freedom's Foundation's George Washington Medal and a $50 check.

Some forty Booster staffers worked year long gathering, writing, and reporting school news for Manualites. Page editors with a "nose for news" sought leads and posted story assignments for reporters. From there the journalists went after interviews and learned the facts. Most copy—news stories, features, and editorials—must be in by deadline on Friday afternoon while weekend sports actions are reported for deadline on Monday.

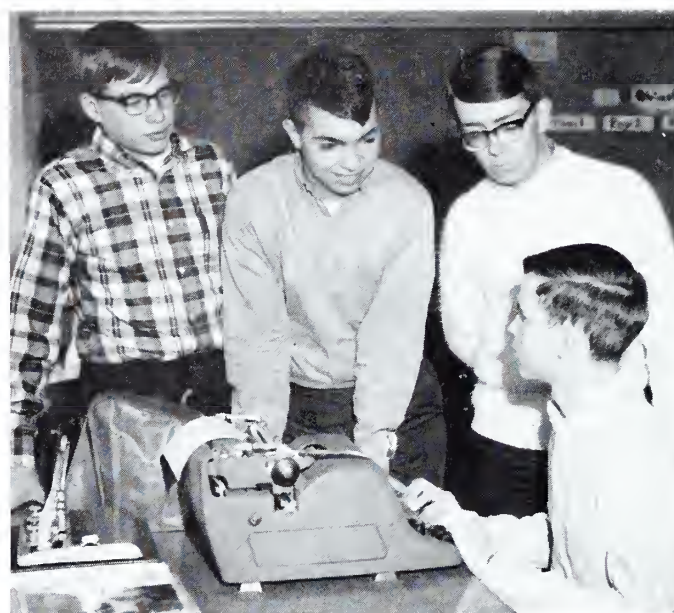

Early in the fall the Booster launched a campaign to revive the singing of the Star Spangled Banner at assemblies and games. A special Christmas issue in red added joy to the season. Another special edition honored Manual Alums while April Fool's Day provided an opportunity to "spoof" the student body.

Editor Jim brought back new ideas to spice up Page 1 from Indiana University's Newspaper Institute. Page 2 co-editors, Bob Smithers and Barb Mascoe, attended a News Conference at I.U. which also supplied them with fresh inspiration. Dick Dillion, sports editor, and his staff reported the ups and PA skits, bought a 50-star flag for the gym, and cil. The Student Assembly, the SAB's link to each Home Room, furnished suggestions to the Board.

Jim Koenig, Editor-in-Chief, pensively thinks about an editorial while working towards Friday afternoon's deadline.

Discussing policies and planning stories for future issues of the Booster, Editor Jim points out suggestions to Page 2 co-editors Bob Smithers and Barb Mascoe. Sandy Dunn, Jim's right hand assistant, looks on while Susan Williams listens for news tips concerning Page 4.

First period Friday finds cubs and reporters pitching in to count out Boosters for some seventy Home Rooms. Ruthann Surber, Linda Horton, Sally Stephans, Karen Dillon, Kathy Wyalda, and Cheryl Dearing count, while John Lyzott arranges the papers for pick-up by Booster Agents.

Ivian Reviews Our Redskin Story Each Year

Sports Editor Dick Dillon, Advertising Manager Dan Ryan, Editor-in-Chief Bev Boyd, and Assistant and Art Editor Bev Steele pose in the "Ivian corner" of the Publications Office.

Sophomore Dora Gilly gets set to watch the birdie for the underclass photographer as Greg Fitzgibbons waits his turn. The studio "shot" almost 1,800 underclassmen for the Ivian.

"Bev!" "Which one?" was a very familiar query as Ivian staffers completed page after page of copy and pictures under the direction of Editor-in-Chief Bev Boyd and Assistant Editor Bev Steele.

The two Bev's, who spent two weeks last summer at the Indiana University Yearbook Workshop, learned the basic skills of layout, copywriting, composing, and editing; while Advertising Manager Dan Ryan made preparations for selling ads to merchants in the community with an advertising campaign.

Spies and counterspies in an episode of the nationally-known TV series, the "Man from M.A.N.-U.A.L.," investigated the Ivian thoroughly, and presented the mounting evidence October 18 at the Ivian's subscription campaign kick-off.

The election of King Ivan, Ron McBride, and Queen Ann, Jan Garrity, highlighted the Pic Parade November 5, as underclassmen came to buy their pictures and stayed to dance. The Ivian's "social season" ended with the John Henry Hop, May 27 when the book, with its top-secret cover, was unveiled.

Behind the scenes, the story was one of constant work, taking and developing pictures, copywriting, and, most important, keeping tabs on the many events and people who must go into the "story of the year." Bev Steele, doubling as Art Editor, sketched the Redskin cartoons that parade throughout the book, and designed the Ivian cover.

Copywriters, typists, and all-around assistants Vangie Baker, Mary Otto, and Linda Ell's look for ideas in an exchange yearbook with Don Goebel, the Ivian's Activities Editor.

Organized confusion—very well organized—was the 1965 "Pic Parade." Booster staffers and cubs pitched in to help the Ivian staff sell pictures in a Cafeteria full of underclassmen.

Red Cross, Y-Teens, Tri-Hi-Y Give Service

President Bertha Milli signs up Red Cross Club members Brenda Dodson, Linda Pack, Paula Dillon, Kathy Yates, and Sandy Flike to man the "fish toss" booth at the Pow Wow.

Y-Teens Arlene McKinney, Barbara Comer, Sally Olds, Emily Daly, and Miss Joanne Hines review plans for their Easter project—taking a little girl shopping for a new wardrobe.

Meeting after school, Janie Murphy, Sherry Stirling, Clara Schelske, Bonnie Eads, Gloria Pruett, Cheryl Pryor, Brenda Schwab, and Miss Nancy Chapman, sponsor, listen as their Tri-Hi-Y President Debbie Barkhau brings up some "new business".

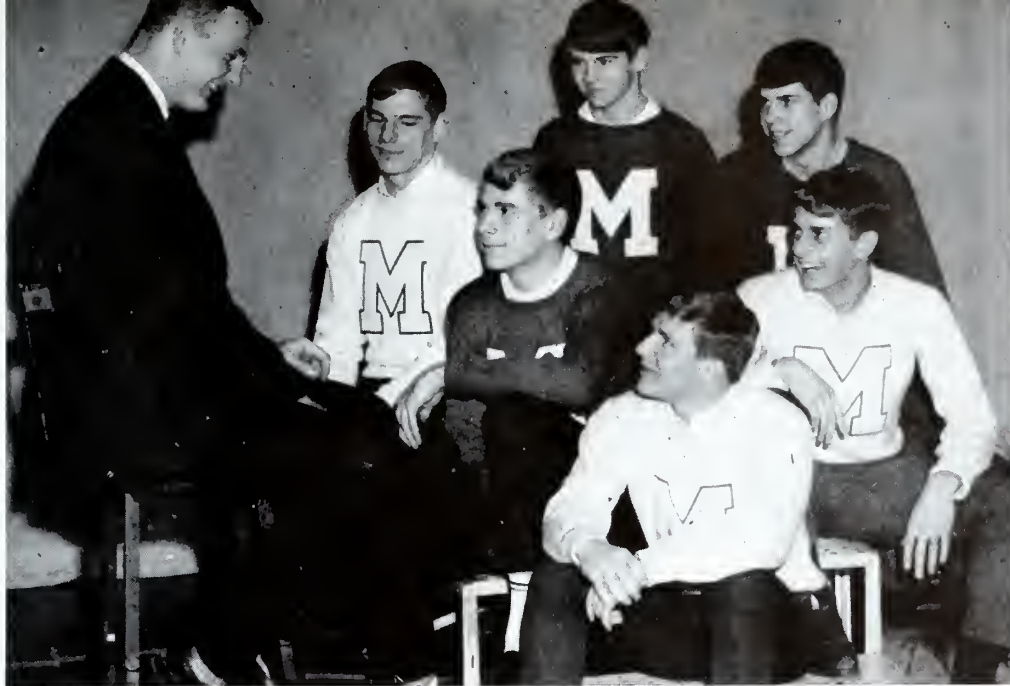

Three all-school clubs combined service and sociability for an active and rewarding year.

Members of the Red Cross Club corresponded with Indian students in a "school-to-school" exchange program, worked on "kits" of personal articles and school supplies for Vietnamese children, and participated in city-wide meets at the Red Cross Chapter House. Working with Mrs. Judith Banks as their sponsor were President Bertha Milli, Vice-presidents Brenda Dodson and Kathy Yates, Secretaries Beth Hodges and Mary Powers, and Treasurer Rose Milli. The girls earned pins for hours of volunteer service at the Red Cross Chapter House.

The Y-Teen Club included service, education, and social activities in its year's program. Meeting twice a month, the girls planned projects like the Thanksgiving party for children at the Southwest Social Center, and the clothing of a child at Easter. Educational talks and social events were interspersed with the service phase of their work. Officers were President Sally Olds, Vice-president Emily Daly, Secretary Arlene McKinney, and Treasurer Barbara Comer. Sponsor is Miss Joanne Hines.

The traditional red sectional derbies are probably the most familiar symbol of the Tri-Hi-Y Club. Promoting school spirit and giving a helping hand to many people through monthly service projects, the club found much to keep it busy. Six members participated in the annual "Model UN," and the entire club provided Christmas dinner and clothes for a needy family. President Debbie Barkhau, Vice-president Martha Taylor, Secretary Cheryl Lucas, and Treasurer Carol Magerlein led the club with the assistance of Miss Nancy Chapman.

Mr. Ray Schultz welcomes boys, who received new athletic sweaters or letters at the winter sports awards program, to the Lettermen's Club. Those recognized for this honor are Wayne Mascher, Phil Warren, Steve Ernest, Louis Meo, Pat Clark, and Jerry Peters.

Letterman Coach Schultz Takes Over 'M' Men

The Lettermen's Club, inactive for several years, was reorganized this year by its new sponsor, Coach Ray Schultz, a Manual graduate of 1959. Mr. Schultz, who is quite an athlete himself, won nine letters in four sports and was All-City end of Manual's unbeaten State Championship football team of '59.

All boys earning a block "M" for participation in sports are eligible to belong to the Lettermen's Club. Drawing up a new constitution, the group hopes to arouse spirit among the athletes and to improve Manual's athletic program. Newly elected officers of the club were Ron McBride, president; Don Silas, vice-president; and Karlis Steinmanis, secretary-treasurer. To add a bit of enthusiasm and a touch of good luck to the Redskin teams, letter-winners proudly wear their sweaters each Friday.

The fighting Redskins, cheering fans, excitement of a city championship, and annual "Hoosier Hysteria" all make the year's sports review one to be remembered. The hours of work put in by teams and coaches and cheerleaders, coupled with the support of lively fans, result in a contagious Redskin spirit that shows up in good sportsmanship, in determination and perseverance, in keen but good-natured competition, and ultimately, in victory.

Athletics in Review

Gridders Share 'City Champs' Title with Tech

Head Coach Noah Ellis and All-City Quarterback Ron McBride plan strategy for an upcoming series of plays.

Coach Noah Ellis and his spirited '65 pigskin team must have had the "Seven Year Itch" last fall as they became the first Redskin team since the gala '58 era to become City Football Champs. Nine seniors and six juniors rated City champ sweaters this year. Ron McBride was named MVP by his fellow teammates in November at the annual Fall Athletic Banquet. McBride, now with three years as varsity quarterback under his belt, pulled many games "out of the fire" in the final minutes of play with his exceptional signal-calling and playing ability.

Manual's Gridmen really played some exciting football and fooled several teams to wind up with an impressive 7-2 season record. Sacred Heart was the first school to feel the power of the Ellismen as they toppled 32-19 at the hands of the rampagin' 'Skins on an early September evening. Washington's Continental squad humbly felt defeat as they were bombarded with scoring by Joe Norris, Austen Wathen, and Bill Glass of the Redskin team. Three successful PAT tries by Bill Taylor and a sole Washington TD made the final score 27-6.

Manual's third season opponent was Howe. The Hornets were really stung as they left Manual's field after their 27-0 loss to the 'Skins. The victory slate at Manual stood 3-0 thus far in the season, and the Redmen discovered that tough Cathedral's Irish were to be their next opponent.

Dennis Dodd heads for a Redskin touchdown against Wood. It was called back because the referee thought the ball was dead.

All-City Fullback Don Silas makes a substantial gain by catching a pass in the Shortridge battle at Homecoming.

Cathedral was also quite prominent with a 3-0 record, and many felt that if anybody could stop Manual, it was the Irish; but that's not what happened. In less than five minutes after the Cathedral-Manual contest started, a 10-yard plunge to pay dirt by Don Silas, that capped a 73-yard, nine-play drive by the Ellismen, put the Redskins ahead 6-0. Bill Taylor then successfully kicked the PAT. Cathedral tied the score in the second period, but that's as far as they got score-wise as speedster Joe Norris carried the pigskin 82 yards on a punt return to make the winning TD for Manual. Final score: Manual 14, Cathedral 7.

At Homecoming, Manual stretched its record to 5-0, defeating Shortridge 26-25. Manual saw its first loss of the season when it took on Tech's Titans and stumbled 14-0. Tech ended the year sharing the City Crown with Manual. Broad Ripple felt a close 27-26 loss as Manual retaliated from its Titan loss to stretch its slate to 6-1.

Southport took Manual by surprise and defeated the Ellismen 26-24. Wood was the last contestant on Manual's schedule, and with QB Ron McBride out of the game with an injury, Dennis Dodd called the signals and led the Redskins to a 14-0 victory over the Woodchucks and a share in the City crown.

Six Varsity Juniors Give High Hopes for '66

"All for Manual, stand up and holler!" urge Varsity cheerleaders Melinda Beal, Connie Goss, Jeanne Reuter, Barbara Wheeler, Nancy Kidd, Charlene Suite, and Debrah Allanson.

This year's Redskin Reserve football team showed great strength which should lend to another strong varsity squad next season. The B-team registered a 4-3-1 record by winding up its games with two end-of-the-season victories over Wood and Southport. The Reserve team also beat Howe and Shortridge and was edged by Cathedral, 7-6. The Redskins were led offensively by Sophomore Lenny Brown who scored five touchdowns in the last two games. He gained experience as a substitute on the varsity team. Other reserve standouts were Doug Hattabaugh, Steve Price, Larry Morwich, and Danny Cook who also played on the varsity squad. Coach Raymond Schultz led this reserve squad making it one of the best defensive teams in a long time. This should be a big factor in next season's City-Championship drive for two titles in a row.

The Manual Freshman football boys had many things against them and did not win a game this season. The Freshies were small, and, even though they had an abundance of spirit, they couldn't seem to buck their larger opponents. The Freshmen came close to that elusive first victory in the last game of the season but were denied it by Wood, 7-6.

High-stepping Drum Major David Ebbler "struts his stuff" in a Redskin Marching Band maneuver for a half-time performance.

Guy Ammerman, Charles Bidgood, Mike Clouse, Dennis Dodd, Bill Glass, Jim Maschmeyer, Ron McBride, Frank Schilling, and Bill Taylor will be lost from the '66 roster by graduation.

Despite the loss of these nine seniors, next year's varsity should rate among the best in the city with Junior Lettermen John Conlin, Charles Cummings, Greg Hillan, Joe Norris, Don Silas, and Steve Stuard returning from the '65 team.

New Coach Leads Harriers to 5-3 Season

Manual's best, Gary Lock, Doug Nave, and Dick Newkirk crouch at the starting line at the Garfield Park 2-mile course.

The Manual Varsity Cross Country team under the first year coaching of Mr. Howard Dardeen, ran to a 5-3 season. On the performances of Dick Newkirk, Gary Lock, and Doug Nave, Manual ran by Franklin Central, Seccina, Center Grove, North Central, and Cathedral. Showing the success of the season, six Redskin Harriers won letters.

The Varsity started off slowly and didn't get their first win until the fourth meet, although they did finish second in a three-way meet beating North Central. Manual then lost to Beech Grove and Tech, but finally came up with a 13-point win in a triangle meet. Manual beat Franklin Central and Seccina, with Newkirk, Lock, and Nave finishing second, third, and fourth, respectively. In the following meet, the Southport Invitational, the 'Skins finished twelfth of fourteen. Manual wound up the dual-meet season by outclassing Center Grove, 15-44, and Cathedral, 39-21. In both these meets, Dick Newkirk won first place, besting everyone. In the City Meet the Redskins finished halfway down, seventh out of the fourteen teams running.

Redskin Cheerleaders Score High on Spirit

Reserve Cheerleaders Jody Hafer, Sally Martz, Brenda Buescher, Sue Zook, Patty Hittle, Captain Karen Clark, and Susie Robertson led the Redskin "B" teams season with spark and spirit.

Captain Mullen Takes City-Champ Title

Coach Jack Foster's 1965-66 Grapplers ended their almost even season with six wins and eight losses for a reversal of last year's 8-6 record. Heavy-weight Junior Steve Price was voted MVP by his teammates and received his award at the Dads Club's spring All-Sports Athletic banquet.

Three Manual wrestlers received individual honors in the City Wrestling Tourney. Team Captain Marlowe Mullen was City Champ in the 138-pound division. Don Silas and Steve Price were runners-up in their divisions to gain Redskin points.

At the Ben Davis Sectional Tourney, Steve Price was Sectional Champ in the Heavyweight division, and Senior Marlowe Mullen finished in second place to give Manual sixth place in the Sectional action. Junior Steve Price, Manual's one representative in the Regional Tourney, which took place at Arlington High School, finished in second place.

The matmen started the season off "on the right foot" with a win over Seccina Memorial but lost their last four meets to Southport, Cathedral, North Central, and Shortridge. Other Redskin wins were over Harry E. Wood, Broad Ripple, Arsenal Tech, Howe, and Decatur Central. Northwest, Arlington, Franklin Central, and Washington also defeated the Fostermen on the mats.

Next year's Grappler team should be pretty strong with seven lettermen still remaining at Manual. Steve Ernest, Steve Hord, Pat Clarke, Wayne Masher, Don Silas, Steve Price, and Bob Stout will be classified as the returning lettermen of '66-'67. Senior and Team Captain Marlowe Mullen will be the sole grappler loss to the Fostermen by graduation.

Senior Team Captain Marlowe Mullen shows the style with which he won "City Champ" honors in this meet with Broad Ripple.

And Then There Was Basketball ...

Karlis Steinmanis, Manual's MVP, is about to get back into the thick of things in this game with first-ranked Howe.

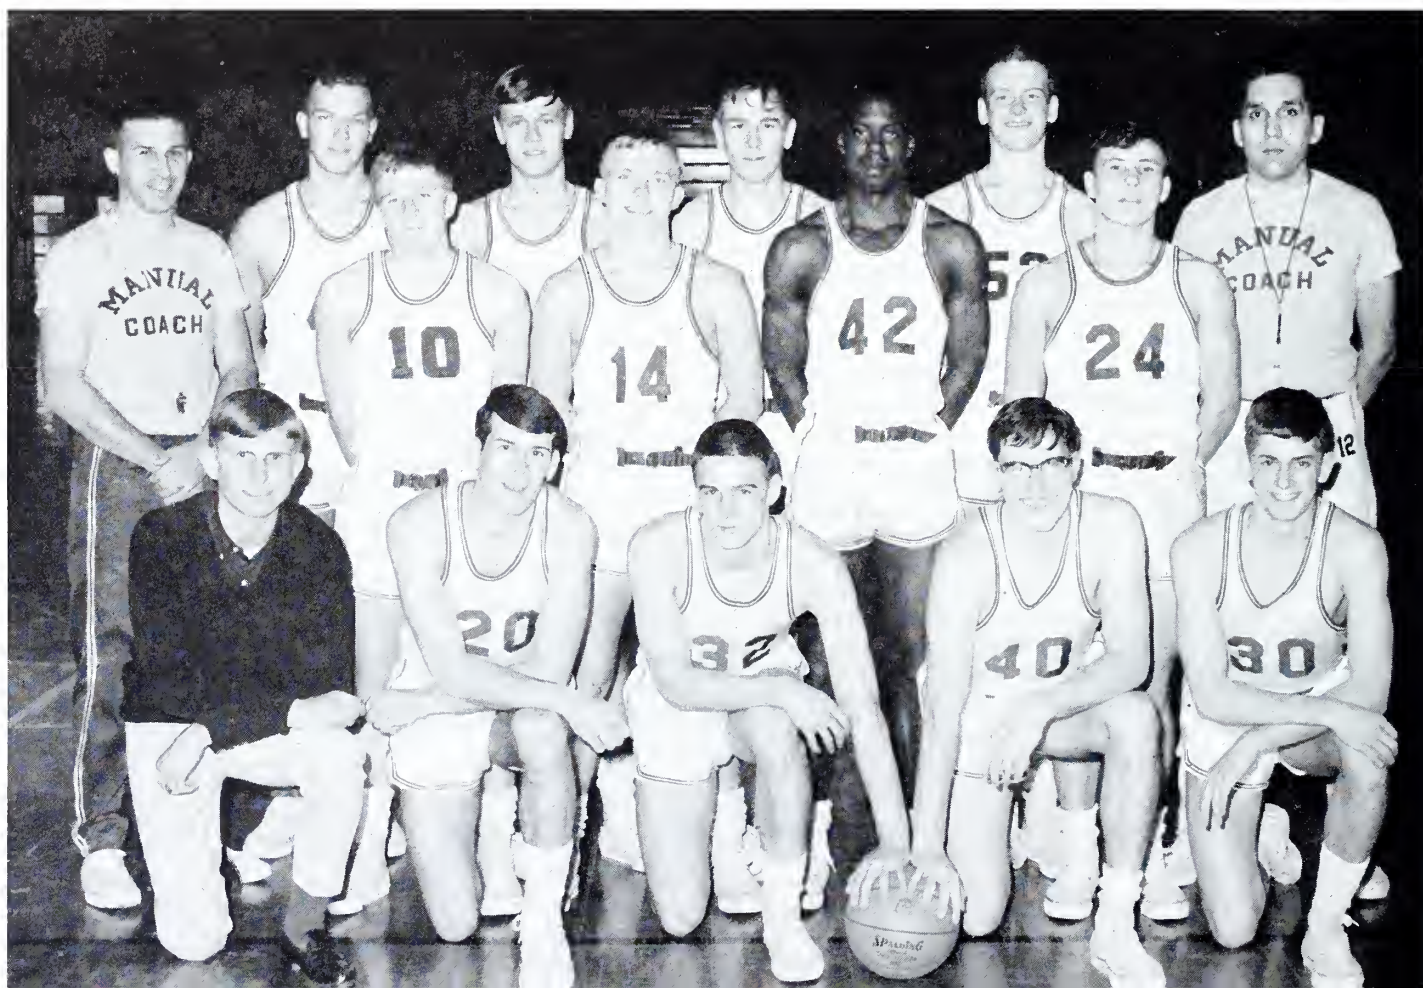

Manual's "roundball" record of 5-15 doesn't sound like a "fun" season — and it wasn't. But the Redskins can boast some high moments and a number of dedicated players who upheld Manual's name by meeting all comers with a competitive spirit.

The Redskins, headed by Coach "Woody" McBride, found themselves on top in four starts. The McBridemen defeated Cathedral, Sacred Heart, Terre Haute Gerstmeier, and Ben Davis. Several contests could have seen Manual on top with a bit of luck. These games were with New Albany, Tech, Broad Ripple, North Central, and Northwest.

In Sectional play, the 'Skins were downed in their opener by Sectional Champ Beech Grove, 67-49. Manual stayed fairly close to the Hornets, trailing by a single point at the end of the first quarter, 9-8. The second stanza closed with Beech Grove in the lead, 34-29. In the third quarter, however, Beech Grove went on a scoring rampage which put them out front to stay.

Manual can't have a winning season every year and there'll be plenty of good potential left over from this year's team along with the Freshmen and Reserve teams to make up a fine club for next year.

Phil Warren, a Manual forward, connects with another one of his numerous baskets in this court action with Southport.

Karlis Makes 'All-City'

As Tourney Stand-Out

Manual opened up the first round of the City Tourney by defeating Sacred Heart, the second time in the season, by a score of 58-45.

The 'Skins started pulling away late in the second stanza when big Karlis Steinmanis and Jerry Peters started connecting regularly from the field. As halftime rolled around, Manual had moved from a 23-20 edge to a 31-22 lead. In the third period, Manual shot out to a 44-32 edge with Steinmanis hitting five baskets.

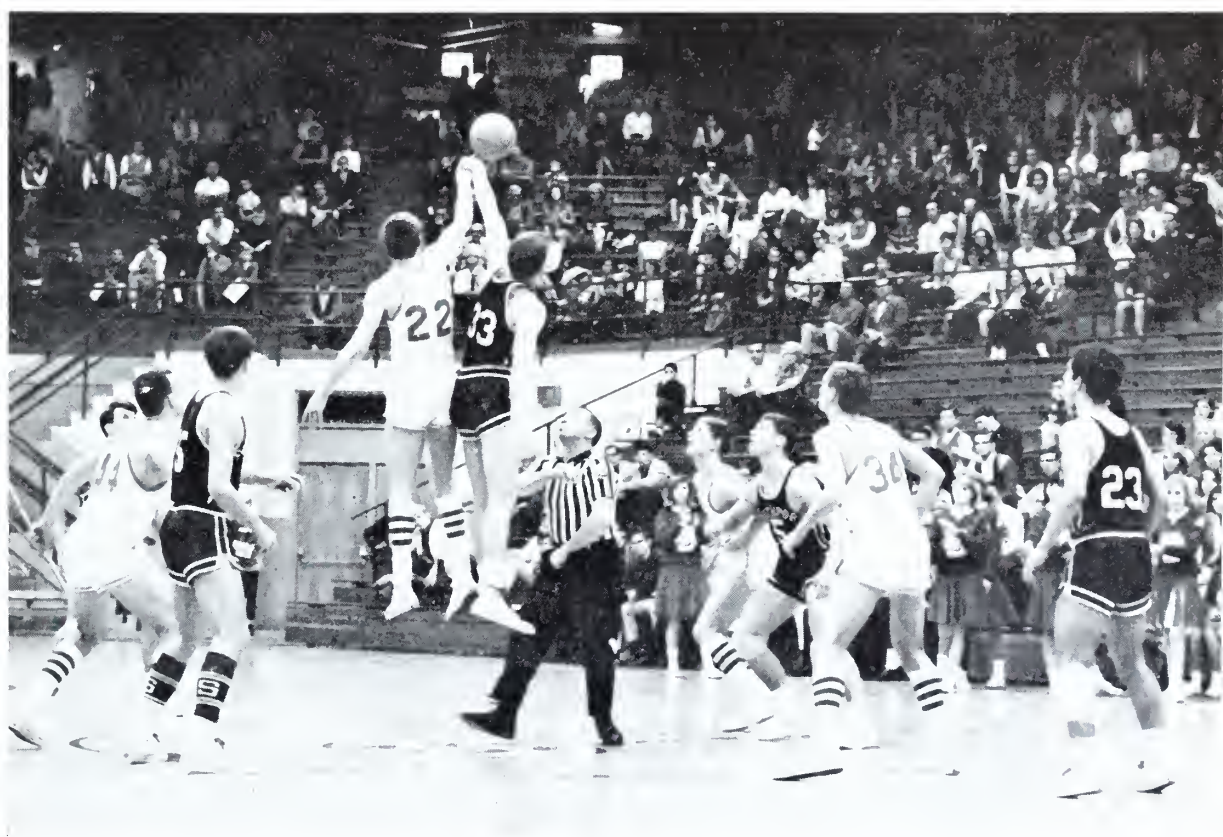

Steinmanis finished with 23 points for the showing with Phil Warren chalking up 11.

Manual next met the Wood Woodchucks and fell to them in a rough and tumble game, 71-62.

Wood led most of the way with a 32-24 edge early in the second quarter. By halftime, Wood still had the lead, 41-36. With the help of Wood's big 6-10 center, Greg Northington, the Chucks finally put the game on ice in the last stanza.

Karlis Steinmanis was the only Redskin to earn a berth on the All-City tourney team.

Manual's Phil Warren goes high for a chance to tip the ball into the hands of one of his teammates, Roger Mankedick, Karlis Steinmanis, Jerry Peters, or Ron McBride at the start of the Manual-Southport Contest.

Manual Looks to Young Redskins with Hope

Bob Percifield and Phil Warren wait tensely as Bill Taylor out-jumps his opponents in a regular season game at Manual.

The Manual Reserve Team, headed by Coach Howard Dardeen, ended up with a slightly better season than the Varsity with seven wins and fifteen losses. The Manual "B's" sported wins over Cathedral, Sacred Heart, Gerstmeier, Washington, Tech, and Deaf School and Northwest in the City Tourney.

There were several cases in which Manual could have come out on top with just two or three extra points. These games were with Northwest during season play, Ben Davis, Broad Ripple, and Southport.

The Reserves opened their City Tourney against the Deaf School and defeated them, 62-29. Manual then moved on to meet Northwest, and avenged an earlier loss by beating them, 55-50. Next the 'Skins took on the Washington Continentals, but they could not keep up with this fast moving team and lost, 63-36, to be out of the Tourney.

The Manual Freshmen ended up with the best season of all with eight wins and eight losses.

The Frosh defeated such teams as Wood, Perry Central, Woodview, Sacred Heart, Broad Ripple, Scena, Northwest, and Cathedral. The Freshmen showed considerable improvement in the latter part of the season, winning four out of the last five games.

The Freshmen finished as one of the four best teams in the city. Coach Fred Belser's Frosh averaged an even 50 points per game.

Jerry Peters is in the act of "stuffing" a basket as a sole Cardinal opponent looks on during the Southport-Manual game.

Diamondmen Finish '65 Season, 9-8

Co-star Pitchers Tom Haapala and Steve Stuard led the 1965 Varsity Baseball Squad to a winning 9-8 victory slate, and a host of Manual sluggers gave "backbone" to the pitching staff. Varsity Coach Art Cook's Redskins placed third in the City, and Senior Charlie Wood was named MVP.

Steve Stuard had a slight margin over Tom Haapala in the pitching honors, and Dick Marshall and Bill Taylor acted as relief hurlers. Rich Cooper took hitting honors with a .522 average. Cooper was followed by Frank Schilling, Charlie Wood, Tom Shoopman, Bill Harris, and Roger Mankedick with averages over the .200 mark.

Extra base hits this season were far from few. Home runs were earned by Tom Shoopman and Rich Cooper. Cooper, Shoopman, Bill Peters, and Perry Cobb each had triples; and doubles were credited to Frank Schilling, Charlie Wood, Shoopman, Rick Brown, Perry Cobb, and Karlis Steinmanis.

The Reserve team finished the season with a 5-5 record, and the Freshman squad finished 2-2.

The '66 team has varsity members Bill Taylor, Noble Brown, Steve Stuard, Frank Schilling, Roger Mankedick, and Karlis Steinmanis returning.

Seven seniors lost by graduation are Tom Haapala, Perry Cobb, Bill Harris, Tom Canida, Rich Cooper, Bill Peters, and Charlie Wood.

Track Winds Up 10-3; Rich Cooper Rates MVP

Rich Cooper led the Redskin Varsity Track team to a 10-3 record. Setting one record, coming within an inch of another, and sharing a third, he was voted the MVP of the 1965 squad. Rich flew to a new 220-yard dash record in 22.6 seconds and missed Tom VanArsdale's high jump mark by three-fourths of an inch. He also anchored the record-setting 880-yard relay, lowering it to 1:34.6. Rich performed well all year in four events: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, high jump, and pole vault.

The biggest highlight of the season came late in May when the 'Skins nipped Howe, 66-43, for the first time in nine years. The "thinlies" finished third in the City Meet with scores in seven individual contests and one relay. In the City Meet, Dick Wessel broke the school pole vault mark as Rich Cooper, Randy Strait, and Mike Hargraves each scored in two events.

Randy Strait, a junior, was a top competitor in the hurdles, usually winning both the low and high hurdles in dual meets, and finished second in the City Meet low-hurdles event at the Tech Track.

Varsity Trackmen Randy Strait expresses a look of determination to win as he races over the low hurdles.

Track MVP Rich Cooper, who was consistently successful in four events, crouches for his record breaking 220-yard dash.

In the Hoosier Relays, run early in the season, Mike Hargraves established himself as the third best shot putter in the state with a 57' toss. Hargraves set and reset Tom VanArsdale's record three times, breaking it in the first meet of the season. Dick Wessel leaped over the pole-vault record, resetting it at 12'3 $\frac{3}{4}$ ". Freshman Bill Calhoun, who broke the Frosh vault mark with 10'6" leap, might be giving this record a test in a year or two.

Coach "Mo" Moriarty's tracksters began the season with their annual indoor meet at Bloomington winning it and the next five in a row. The Redskins dropped their next meet to Ben Davis for their first loss. The 'Skins stumbled again over Southport by a 66-43 count. Then Manual got back on the right track and won four in a row, but lost to City Champion Washington in the finale, 65-44.

All the track teams had good records, the Reserves getting four out of six and the Frosh registering a 6-4 slate for their limited season.

Racketmen, Golfers Boast 'Swinging' Year

Manual's 1965 Tennis Squad finished the year with a winning 9-6 record and placed fourth in the City Tourney last year, for one of the best seasons.

John Rogers was named MVP for the year by his teammates and filled the No. 1 spot on the team with a season record of 23 wins and just 7 defeats. Bob VanNoy had the second best season average with 19 victories against 11 losses.

VanNoy was named to the All-City Tennis Team, and Rogers was runner-up at the No. 3 position in the City Tournament. Both racketmen were juniors.

Coach Leland Walter's Racketmen scored victories over Howe 1-2, Ben Davis 4-3, Sacred Heart 4-1, Scecina 6-1, Warren Central 4-3, Attucks 7-0, Cathedral 4-3, Washington 4-1, and Northwest 4-3. The Courtmen lost to Wood, Park, Arlington, Tech, Shortridge, and Broad Ripple.

This year's squad has a strong nucleus of five veterans from last year, four of whom are lettermen. MVP Rogers, VanNoy, Lee Colvin, and John Hartman are returning letterwinners. No. 4 man, Darrell Allen, who was a freshman last year and therefore ineligible for a letter, will also be back this season. Dennis Bruns, the team's No. 6 member, was the only loss due to graduation.

Coach Oral Bridgford's Linkster team for 1965 swung their way to six wins, eight losses, and four ties for a fair 6-8-4 season late last year.

The Divotmen captured fourth place honors for Manual in the City Golf Tourney. In the Sectional Manual's Golfmen finished in the No. 13 spot.

Bob Percifield, who was a Junior last year, took individual honors on the golf squad. Bob had the best individual score of the season which was a card of 35 for 9-hole action. Percifield finished the season with a 39.2 average for the best individual average at Manual. Bill Hook was No. 2 man on the team with a 39.7 season average.

The golfers tallied victories over Chatard 8-4, Greenfield 10½-11½, Attucks 8-4, Tech 9½-21½, Sacred Heart 8-4, and Wood 11-1. The 'Skins lost to North Central, Scecina, Arlington, Northwest, Cathedral, Broad Ripple, Southport, and Lawrence. They tied Ben Davis, Washington, Shortridge, and Howe.

This year Bob Percifield and Bill Hook, last year's top two teenmen, will return as golf lettermen. Fred Hillan, Larry Wise, and Kenneth Eaton, senior members of the '65 squad, were lost by graduation to Manual's '66 Linkster team.

Intramural Program

'Heap Fun' for Redskins

Manual provides a broad intramural program throughout the year for both boys and girls.

Sponsoring coed intramural-bowling was Mr. Clifford Snyder. It began in late November and ended in March with varied tournaments interspersed, for which the Southside Optimists donated eleven trophies. Most-improved bowler, bowlers with the best average, best series, and best game were honored.

Girls participated in volleyball intramurals every Monday and Friday. The intramurals ended with a tournament in early February. Winners of the Monday night tournament, sponsored by Miss Elena Raglin, were the "Sugar Footers," co-captained by Linda Cross and Cheryl Dearing. The Friday night tournament was taken by the "Little Giants," co-captained by Diana Stevens and Cathy Hafer. Miss Theo Parr sponsored this tournament. In addition to volleyball, the girls were active in golf, tennis, archery, softball, and badminton.

Boys were active in intramural basketball, sponsored by Mr. Dennis Jackson. Highlights of the season were play-offs in middle February.

Ralph Everroad stops to chat with Jean Strother, who is keeping score for their lanes with the help of Judy Wallace. The once-a-week bowling league provides much fun for all.

Joe Meyer lets one roll with a "professional" delivery, and Becky Wyrick shoots for a strike. Both advanced and beginning bowlers learn much about the game at these sessions.

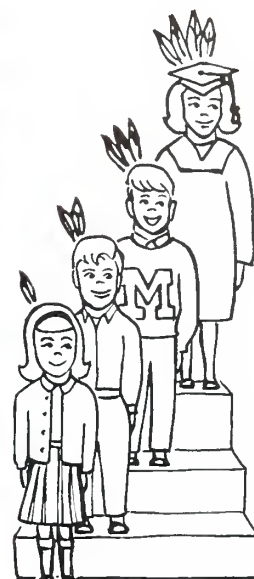

Manual is more than books and lessons — it is friends, too. In class, club, on the team, in the lunchroom, we learn to live with some 2,400 students and teachers. Although this sometimes proves to be a difficult assignment, it is a very necessary part of our education. Many times our acquaintances ripen into friendships that perhaps will last a lifetime, and this adds a special magic to the four years we spend at Manual.

Manualites In Review

Faculty Injects Spirit into 'Pro's,' Students

Principal C. Edgar Stahl, Manual's "Chief" for 15 years, also served as chairman of the ISTA Executive Committee this year.

"There is a good relationship between the school administration and the staff, and between the staff and the student body," so stated the North Central Evaluation Committee's report. The report went on to say that staff members exhibit a high degree of school pride which merely confirms what Redskins have always thought about their faculty.

Principal Edgar Stahl served at the State Teachers' Convention as president of the Indiana State Teachers' Association. In January, as retiring president, he filled a position on the ISTA Executive Committee and was then elected president.

Mr. E. Edward Green, English teacher, headed up the Indianapolis Education Association as president while English Department Head Mr. Richard Blough served as prexy for the English Teachers' Club of Indianapolis. Other faculty members also took an active part in various educational activities representing Manual and the community.

Not only does our faculty participate in professional activities, but they also take an interest in Redskin fun. Manual's "Fearless Faculty Fogies" downed the WIFE "Good Guys" in a charity basketball game in midwinter. At pep sessions, teachers' antics spark enthusiasm to mold the Redskin spirit.

As counselors, club sponsors, and educators, teachers play an important role in student's lives. Their guidance and understanding, in extracurricular activities as well as the classroom, will prove invaluable in the years to come.

Manual's faculty presented Principal Edgar Stahl with a new set of luggage at the opening session of the ISTA convention last October, to recognize his being elected its president. Manual teachers doing the honors are Mrs. Charlotte Camfield, Mr. Maurice Huckleberry, Mr. Ed Wall, and Mr. Ben Parke.

In charge of Manual's buildings and grounds, Vice-Principal Noble Poole makes arrangements for dances and special programs.

Vice-Principal E. Franklin Fisher takes the responsibility of class programming. Here, he balances classes for next semester.

Preparing for the visit of the North Central Association, Manual's faculty met numerous times to hear and evaluate the findings of faculty study committees that were to draw up a report of the school's total program.

Senior Day Finds '66er's 'Banded' Together

Handing over the Senior Gavel to newly elected Senior Class President Ron McBride, Principal C. Edgar Stahl concludes the installation of class officers before the Senior Party.

Red roses and the traditional armbands that have adorned every Senior Class since 1909 made their annual appearance November 3 as the Class of '66 celebrated Senior Recognition Day. But for the 440 members of the top class, it was Senior Day with a difference — at last they were the ones wearing the Sunday clothes, armbands, and special club insignia. The day marked the organization of the class under the victors of a whirlwind campaign.

Class elections were "probably the best staged of any election in the history of Manual," commented Senior Sponsor Mr. Malcolm Stern. After a primary election in which voters registered and cast their ballots during free periods, a final campaign complete with posters, tags, and speeches by presidential candidates topped off the "new" method.

The year was filled with the perils and pleasures of Senioritis: Class dues, Turnabout Day (with President Ron filling in for Principal Stahl), Lilly research papers, job interviews, the innumerable dotted lines to be filled out on college applications, the class play, the square dance, the final report card, Commencement, and the Prom. But it all wouldn't have meant quite so much if there hadn't been three other years before — years when we worked, learned, and hopefully for us, "grew up."

Cokes and conversation go hand-in-hand at the Senior Party for Connie Goss, Bob Short, and Jean Reuter. The after-school celebration capped the dress-up recognition day for some 440 seniors and marked the formal organization of the class of '66.

Enterprising senior boys, in a feat of artistic and engineering skill, stretched a "Senior Class of 1966 A Go-Go" banner across Ransdell Street to greet classmates on Senior Day.

Senior Class Sponsor Mr. Malcolm Stern congratulates President Ron McBride as Vice-president Bill Glass, Treasurer Bev Steele, and Secretary Nancy Kidd smile approval.

Top Ten Juniors of 1965 were Marchita Lemme, Bev Steele, Barbara Mascoe, Sally Stephens, and (standing) Jim Maschmeyer, Nancy Kidd, Karlis Steinmanis, Bev Boyd, and Ron McBride. The ten were selected on the basis of scholarship and participation in extra-curricular school activities.

Juniors Add '67 Zest to Scholarship, Sports

Baubles and bangles adorn the Junior Christmas Tree in the main hall. An after-school party followed the tree-trimming.

"We've got jolly jolly Juniors." In fact, well over 500 of them returned in the fall to organize the Class of '67. Members enthusiastically welcomed the added responsibilities of upperclassmen. A business meeting the second week of school set a precedent for the election of officers. Rings became a mark of distinction for the class in October, and December found the main hall adorned with the traditional Junior Class Christmas Tree which is an annual gift to the school.

Juniors contributed widely to the scholastic and athletic fame of Manual, rightfully earning their place among the school leaders. President Bob Smithers filled a position on the "Exercise in Knowledge" team, and Don Silas led in varsity football to become All-City fullback and to be named Number 1 fullback in state AP ratings.

Attention focused on the class in March as members sported spring finery on Junior Class Recognition Day. At a class meeting in the Auditorium, Principal C. Edgar Stahl announced the "Top Ten" juniors and awarded them keys. A party in the cafeteria with dancing and refreshments followed. Later in the month, outstanding scholars pledged National Honor Society while formal initiation was conducted in May.

In April, the Class of '67 gathered for the Junior Prom, the last social event of the year. Looking very grown-up in formal attire, they had a gala evening at Butler University's Atherton Center.

Pep Band members line up in preparation for their "spirit march" through the Manual halls before the pep session for the last basketball game. Always present at home games, the pepsters traveled to Southport to help support the Redskins.

So we put the final period on another chapter of Manual history and our lives. The signatures that will fill many of these pages will make each book an autographed copy from the people who really wrote it—the 2,300 Redskins who have lived the story we have told here. We grew this year in mind and body—the evidence showed publicly from Science Fair prizes and Scholastic Art Keys to medals in athletic competition; privately by stronger friendships and smoother relations, and personally by minds with better understanding and hands with greater skills. As we take our places in a very complex world, we look to our Manual training of Mind, Hand, and Heart to help us put our “best foot forward,” because all our lives we still will be

Redskins in Review

We are often involved in our community, one that is rapidly expanding up and down "our street," Madison Avenue, and one that actually extends throughout our whole city.

This year we have greatly benefited by the interest and service of our business neighbors, who have displayed our posters in their windows, given us part-time jobs, supported many school activities, and most important, have provided us with friendly, competent service and quality products.
